DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the at least one sensor and at least one controller must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Applicant has failed to provide a structural connection between the at least one sensor, at least one controller, and at least one gas permeable membrane, and the rest of the elements of the invention, as recited in claims 1 and 25.

In claim 5, it is recited that the valve is "adapted to open" when activated by the controller. There is provided no structural connection between the valve and controller. Additionally, there is recited nothing to establish that the valve can be operated by a controller.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over DeMoor in view of DeTemple et al.

There is disclosed in DeMoor an apparatus for controlling the composition of gases within a container 2, the container including a plurality of walls and an opening 21, 22 in the form of an inlet and outlet, the apparatus including at least one sensor 25, 26, 27 at least one controller (not shown) and at least one gas permeable membrane 121, the sensor and membrane being located within the container, the openings including controllable valves.

DeTemple discloses, for use with a container, a membrane 24 defining a first region 16 within the container for holding cargo and a second region 26 defining a gas buffer, the second region being in communication with valves 54, 56 of an opening 20, 22.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to substitute the membrane arrangement of DeMoor with that taught in DeTemple, in order to allow for collection and removal of gases from the container at a defined region as opposed to from an entire chamber formed by the container.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The prior art references to Jenkins et al., Matthews and Dalgleish et al. are cited for their disclosure of the state of the art.
